In conclusion, the same complex composed of two components in each instance tends to produce the same result. In each instance, the conditions of the two patterns (with regard to phase, the number of the subject or the object of the formation) determine the same result: the same number of phases.

La corrélation négative est un résultat attendu par les auteurs car les charges en matière de sécurité (sécurité des biens et des personnes, état de l'entretien des locaux, etc.) sont des charges qui pèsent sur les dépenses d'investissement, les dépenses de la maintenance.

It will be compared to the price the vendor expects to receive, as is the case in other transactions (Barnett). It will be compared to revenue in other transactions as well as to the revenue from other sources.
